

A close-up profile of a dark brown sheep's head, looking towards the left. The sheep has thick, dark wool and a blue ear tag with the number '525' visible. The sheep is standing behind a wooden fence. The background is bright and slightly out of focus, suggesting an outdoor setting.

Seaside Sheep Show

Seaside Sheep Show

● Aspex off-site

Sunday 2 July 2006, 11.00am – 5.00pm
Southsea Common

Flock to Southsea Common for a picnic of shepherd's delights. Artist Charlie Murphy is exercising a long-standing right to graze livestock on the seafront. She has rounded-up some sheepish art activities, prize competitions, stalls and performances. Take up the challenge to create a fancy crook and be the best-dressed shepherdess or shepherd. Graze upon a feast of rural produce or count the sheep.

Shepherds, lost sheep and families are welcome.

Find us:

Southsea Common, Clarence Esplanade, Southsea, Portsmouth, next to the bowling green and opposite the Blue Reef Aquarium.

Bus No. 6 or 700 from Portsmouth Harbour rail station, or follow Tourist Information signs to Seafront and Aquarium.

Admission Free

Seaside Sheep Show is part of EXPLORE, an off-site programme to mark Aspex Gallery's relocation to the Vulcan Building on Gunwharf Quays.

Places limited on some activities, children under 8 must be accompanied by an adult.

Organised by Aspex Gallery, Portsmouth
For information see www.aspex.org.uk or contact 023 9281 2121 info@aspex.org.uk
Charlie Murphy: www.charliemurphy.co.uk

